Mr. CASE of Clarington died last week, aged 75.

Mrs. Priscilla DYE, of this twp, died of apoplexy 27 ult., 76y, member of the Baptist Church for 20y.

A most destructive fire occurred in the town of Cameron on Tuesday night the 28th ult., resulting in the loss of the dwelling house and grocery store of John DAKAN and the dwelling house of Hon. Eliel HEADLEY. The fire originated in the grocery of John Dakan, and owing to there being a keg and a half of powder in the building the people were prevented from working to save either the house or the goods. It was thought at one time that Mr. Headley's house was out of danger, but the explosion of the powder showered the fire all over it, setting it on fire in several places, rendering any efforts to extinguish utterly unavailing. The citizens are convinced that it was the work of an incendiary. Insured in the Monroe Mutual.

The surgical aid of Dr. WAY was obtained, a difficult and delicate operation was performed, and the young man is improving. He is likely to be restored perfectly sound.

On 19th ult., James S. FISHER, a lad of 14, was pushing a pitchfork along before him, and the tines struck a stake driving the handle with force against his abdomen, near the groin. Medical assistance was obtained as soon as possible, but he died in a few hours. He was a son of Jacob Fisher, of Green twp, and was an unusually bright and intelligent boy.

On the 25th ult., the body of a man was found floating in the river near John BRIDGMAN's farm. Jacob WAGNOR Esq, acting as coroner, called a jury, who after due examination found by their verdict that the deceased came to his death by drowning. The coroner's return gives the following description of his clothes: two pair of pants; one pair black; one pair gray mixed; two check shirts; one pair coarse shoes and woolen socks. OLD MONROE

There's little in thy rugged hills,
Or rocky dells or winding rills,
That ever stranger bosom thrills.

No iron way thy valleys know,
No wires where sleepless heralds flow,
Nor yet the furnace's red glow.

Trade comes not with her busy feet,
And learning makes not this her seat,
Nor art nor science their retreat.

No precious ores in hill or dale,
No palm or lime tree in the vale,
No orange blossom scents the gale.

No ancient palace here is seen.
No ruined fort or castle e'en,
Nor sickening battle-field I ween.

But there is not, on any soil,
More honest, generous men of toil,
Than these thy sons, unstained by spoil.

In hope they ever plant the seed,
In faith prepare for time of need,
In charity the hungry feed.

And purer winds did never blow,
Nor brighter waters ever flow,
Than for the sons of Old Monroe.

And though thy hills may rugged be,
And strangers find no charm in thee,
Thou ever hast a charm for me.

OLD MONROE, NO. 2

Thou liest within the 'Buckeye' State,
On the eastern border is thy fate;
Along thy shore flows a river fine,
More beauteous than the ancient Rhine;
But e'er staid in this, thy pride should be,
Thou art the home of true Democracy.

Thy sons are noble, gallant men,
As e'er held the plow or wield the pen;
Their hearts are grieved at freedom's
fall,
But they'll bravely rally to the call,
Their ensign bearing the resolution -
'We're fighting for the Constitution.'

Thy memory shall be cherished far,
When upon us dawns the morning star;
When the thieves are put upon the chase
And honest men fill every place -
From east to west, where'er you go.
You'll hear them say, 'We're with old
Monroe.'

The shield of Democracy we'll wear
And in our hands the old flag bear,
And on the eleventh of October
We'll vote to turn the record over,
And show the rogues how they've blun-
dered,
By fully five and twenty hundred.
